

Who Will Inherit Your Wealth?

Find out with our Intestacy Flow Chart

If you are a resident of England and Wales and die without a valid Will, your estate becomes subject to the Rules of Intestacy. The Rules of Intestacy determine how your estate is to be distributed after the payment of all of your debts, liabilities, testamentary expenses and funeral costs.

It is important to note that:

- The Rules of Intestacy do not recognise 'unmarried partners' and therefore no provisions are made for them.
- The value of the family home, if owned by the deceased, is included in the surviving spouse or civil partner's entitlement of up to £270,000 and £450,000.
- Children include both adopted and illegitimate, but not step children.
